The Sacred Book of Ancient Mayas-Quichés

The Popol-Vuh is a very important document in historical, literary as well as religious terms. This Sacred Book of the ancient Mayan-Quiche people can be considered as their « Bible ». The Quiche nation is a native Amerindian ethnic group of Guatemala. This Mayan people descended from the « master builders » of Tula thought to be at the origin of the great monuments of southern Mexico, Guatemala, Honduras and Yucatán. Before Christophe Colomb's arrival, the Mayan-Quiche were among the most civilized peoples in the New World.

The Popol-Vuh is a lifeline thrown into the sea of our history by an unknown scholar, at the time of the Spanish conquest. In the 16th century, the conquistadors, accompanied by intolerant and fanatical monks, systematically eradicated all traditions and destroyed by fire all the documents of the Mayan-Quiche people. Only the Popol-Vuh, three codices and some fragments of manuscripts, evidences of the ancestral knowledge of this people, have come down to us.

As the Torah or the Christian Bible, the Popol-Vuh relates the story of Creation. The narrative of Earth Creation is strangely similar in the three Bibles, but the description of « terraforming » seems more poetic in the Popol-Vuh than in the Torah. In both cases, the texts tell about a « group of Creators » and not only a single Creator: the Elohim in the Torah, and the Creator, the Maker, Tepeu, Gucumatz, the Forefathers in the Popol-Vuh.

The Popol-Vuh makes a detailed report of the way our planet was terraformed at the time of Creation by an unknown extraterrestrial group, similar to a demiurge group, which the author of this essay prefers to name « gods engineers ». In this regard it is interesting to note that for several decades now, researchers and engineers have been conducting scientific studies on our planet to « terraform » planet Mars.

As the other Bibles, the Popol-Vuh tells about a Lost Paradise and the suppression of Knowledge for Humankind. It also tells about a major disaster, similar to the Flood, which occurred on Earth at the time of the ancient Maya people. As the Book of the Dead and the Pyramids Texts of ancient Egypt, it explains the reincarnation of the dead in stars.

An attempt to interpret the text of the Popol-Vuh

The text of the Popol-Vuh is issued from a very old, oral tradition of the Mayan-Quiches. The author would like to explain that in the 21st century we have a number of clues and traces allowing us to question the Creationist or Darwinist paradigms of the Creation story. In the light of our knowledge, it seems today that the truth would rather be between these two conceptions and that the evolution might be Creationist and Darwinist, rather than only Creationist or Darwinist.

This essay analyzes the story telling of Mayan-Quichés in the Popol Vuh and the teachings we could draw from this text. Today, Humankind is only beginning to explore our solar system. Reading this essay you will discover that others before us had, perhaps, the Grand Design to give birth (or arouse?) the mind frozen into the matter of the Universe.

A few billion years ago, explorers from space and time, might have discovered the planets of our solar system while these were at the dawn of evolution and life. For millions of years, these « Gods Engineers » had been exploring planets, observing nature, analysing its evolution, identifying and classifying the beginnings of life. When they understood what they had discovered, they began to transform nature and change life on Earth and perhaps elsewhere as well. As they had done on the planets of other Suns, they shaped the destiny of many forms of life evolving in the air, on land and under the sea.

Their project was to have intelligence hatch throughout the Galaxy. They wanted to create the spirit, the most precious treasure in the Universe, which was locked in the networks of atoms and molecules of the material. Elsewhere already their intervention had given rise to the first sparks of intelligence on thousands of worlds. Here again, they would have to wait for hundreds million years before they could know if their modifications were successful or if thought would remain frozen and motionless in the Cosmos night.

As soon as the first gleam of intelligence appeared, they hurried toward other suns and their planets. In the vastness of space, they left behind them extraordinary machines, tireless and vigilant robots in charge of recording the evolution, protecting their Grand Design, and perhaps even sending regular reports.

The Dawn of Intelligence

It is generally admitted that the universe we observe in our telescopes was born in infinite space about fourteen billion terrestrial years ago. Our planet Earth would be a little more than four and a half billion years old, and life appeared there about three and a half billion years ago. According to various scientific estimates, our planet Earth could bear life during still about five hundred million years.

However, this analysis of the evolution of the universe does not answer the questions we are asking ourselves today. When did intelligence appear? Was it about eight million years ago with the first hominidé? What's its origin? What is it exactly? Where will it lead us? Can we apprehend the notion of space-time? The vastness of space and time are almost as difficult to understand for today humans as lightnings in the sky and fire of volcanoes were for yesterday humans living in caves. Just like them we do experience dizziness and wonder, loneliness and dread, as we become aware of our smallness in front of the mysteries of the universe.

The SE night TI program, to which the author's computers were connected for several years through SETI@home, was looking for extra-terrestrial intelligence. The official purpose, which justified the budget allocated to this research, was to detect signals sent, voluntarily or not, by that extra-terrestrial intelligence since his planet of origin. The SETI program was therefore trying to answer the big question « Yes or No are we the sole intelligent beings in the Universe? » and its corollary « when did intelligence appear in the universe? ».

Behind the official goal, the SETI program had obviously another goal. It was trying to establish, through the vastness of space and time, a contact with other extraterrestrial intelligences, perhaps even with the Creators's Group, the « Gods Engineers ». The message - sent into deep space in November 1974 by the Arecibo radio telescope in charge of the SETI program on the island of Puerto Rico- is said to have received a surprising answer nearly 27 years later, in August 2001 under the form of two crop formations that appeared in a wheat field near Chilbolton Observatory in the County of Wiltshire, about 150 km West of London, England.

In this essay, the author tries to discuss the narrative of the Popol-Vuh and other bibles, the SETI researches, the messages transmitted through the crop formations and some various other mysteries.

BEFORE

*Chaos and darkness.
Silence and immobility.
Nothing existed.*

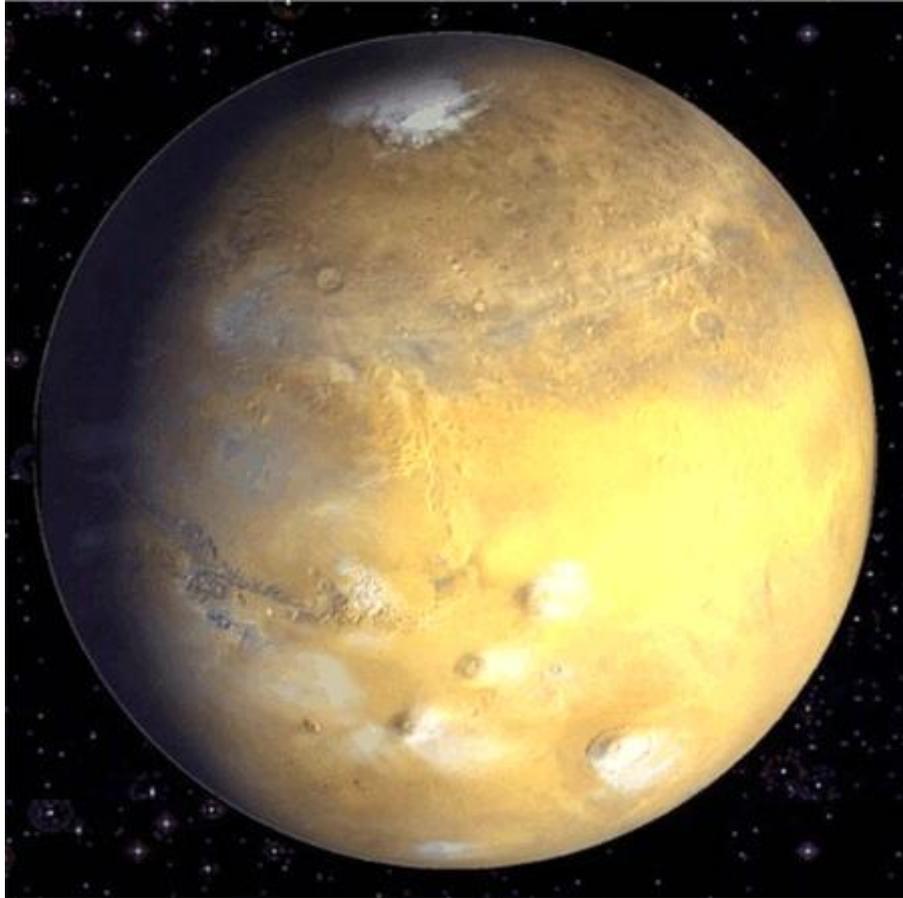

The Popol Vuh and other Bibles explain how our planet was terraformed at the time of the Creation of the World. The Popol-Vuh reports how the « Gods Engineers » realized this terraforming. It is interesting to note that today, in our 21st century, we are seriously considering a terraforming... of planet Mars. This terraforming should act on the environment of the planet to make it similar to our Earth.

What could have been the aspect of the planets and particularly Earth at the time of arrival of the « Gods Engineers » in our Solar System?

The first Viking mission to Mars gave us images of a bleak, inhospitable world, apparently unable to bear life. The Popol Vuh gives an identical vision of the Earth before the Creation.

Here is what the Popol-Vuh tells us about this period BEFORE the appearance of life on Earth : « ...This is the account of how all was in suspense, all calm, in silence; all motionless, still, and the expanse of the sky was empty ...There was neither man, nor animal, birds, fishes, crabs, trees, stones, caves, ravines, grasses, nor forests; there was only the sky... ».

Thus, according to the Popol Vuh, when the Group of Creators discovered our planet before the appearance of life,... everything was empty and motionless, everything was outstanding...

Planet Mars as we see it through our space probes.
The Earth probably had a similar aspect
BEFORE the appearance of life.*

How does the 21st century Science describe the beginning of planet Earth?

« The young planet Earth during the Hadean eon, was very different from the world as we know it today. There was no ocean and no oxygen in the atmosphere.

The first eon in Earth's history, the Hadean, begins with the Earth's formation. The Earth was formed around 4.54 billion years ago. It is followed by the Archean eon at 3.8 billion years. The first life forms appeared between 3.8 and 3.5 billion years ago ».

The description of today's scientists is analogue to the text of the Popol-Vuh. Indeed, with no ocean and no oxygen in the atmosphere life is not possible as explained in the Popol-Vuh:

« ...There was neither man, nor animal, birds, fishes, crabs, trees, stones, caves, ravines, grasses, nor forests; »

There was therefore nothing at the time of the Hadean eon described by the scientists. Without water and air, there are no living beings. This is why there are no fossils of that era. The oldest fossils in the world, discovered in rocks in Australia, would be 3.4 billion years old. The organisms at the origin of those fossils have used sulfur and not oxygen to grow. Those fossils were produced by organisms which used only sulfur and no oxygen.

Our planet Earth as it might have been before the appearance of water, air and life. This is the image of Mars sent by our space probes when they fly over the planet.

The Popol-Vuh gives a very precise description of the aspect of Earth on the arrival of the Group of Creators :

« ...all was in suspense, all calm, in silence; all motionless, still, and the expanse of the sky was empty; there was only the sky... ».

As there was no ocean, there was no noise or movement of waves, no air molecules to transmit the sounds, everything was silent and waiting. Only the black sky of space existed, and our young planet was illuminated by a distant sun.

The photo of Figure 2 was taken by one of the space probes sent by the humans from Earth to planet Mars. This image of the large Martian canyon « Valles Marineris » illustrates the aspect that might have had our young planet, while there was no water, nor air, nor life, but only the black space and a constant bombardment of various materials which ploughed the soil and created the chaos and deep furrows.

As the Torah, the Bible also says in the Old Testament : « ...a day,... on the place of chaos... ».

In the Judeo-Christian tradition, the chaos is a vague and empty aspect of the Earth before the intervention of the Creator. In the Greek creation myths, the chaos refers to the formless or void state preceding the creation of the universe or cosmos, or to the initial « gap » created by the original separation of heaven and earth.

Our modern science confirms this chaos : « The young Earth was bombarded by asteroids and materials derived from the formation of the solar system. After several years of impact, the planet Earth was formed. Following this formation, the asteroids continued to collide with the Earth, producing energy in the form of heat. The Earth began to burn from the inside because of the intense heat. The elements that were there (iron and nickel) have melted and flowed toward the center of the planet. Therefore, the kernel was formed during the forty first million years of the Earth. The liquid iron contained in the kernel creates a magnetic field around it. It is this field that protects the planet from some cosmic particles. Several years later, a significant collision with an asteroid about the size of a planet changed the direction of the Earth. The impact mixed the outer layers of the two planets which caused the expansion of the Earth and the rest of the debris formed the moon. Following the chaos of the first years of life of the planet, collisions became rarer and the Earth was able to cool down. ».

These scientific hypotheses explain that the moon would have appeared after this gigantic collision :

« The origin of the Moon remains a topic of debate. This origin refers to any of the various scientific explanations for the formation of the Moon, Earth's natural satellite.

The leading theory has been the Giant Impact Hypothesis (GIH). However, research continues on this matter, and there are a number of variations and alternatives. Other proposed scenarios include captured body, fission, formed together, planetesimal collisions, and collision theories.

The standard GIH suggests a hypothesized ancient planet called Theia collided with the Early Earth around 4.533 billion years ago. Theia was about the size of Mars in the early Solar System.

After the debris from the collision flew into space, creating a large debris ring around the Earth, in the end, Theia's debris gathered together around Earth to form the Moon that we know nowadays ».

Here's what our two books say:

In the Popol-Vuh, « the Moon and the Sun are the main roles in the great myth of the Creation. The two stars were the first couple in History... ».

The Torah says the same thing : « the great light for the reign of the day, and the small light for the reign of the night... ».

Compared to the assumptions of modern science, the stories of these two books seem more concrete as if they were derived from observation, as if some witnesses (or actors?) were present at the beginning of the formation of the Earth, but when exactly?

Popol-Vuh indicates that the Sun and the Moon were the first visible stars in the sky of Earth and the Torah explains the role of each of them, one for the day, the other for the night. These descriptions seem to indicate that our « Gods Engineers » arrived in the Solar System after the initial chaos, while our Earth was already geologically stable and the Moon was in its place in the Earth sky and it punctuated with the Sun the alternation of night and day.

According to geologists who study the rock samples brought back from the Moon by the Apollo missions, it is toward the end of the Hadean eon or geological chaos —about 4 billion years ago — that the Earth could be geologically stabilized and that the surface of the Moon could be solidified as was the Earth's crust.

If one supports the hypothesis of « Gods Engineers » mentioned in the Popol-Vuh (the Great Ancestors) or Torah (the Elohims), we can suppose they are scientifically very advanced beings, able to identify solar systems at the end of this great geological chaos in the universe.

We can therefore suppose that these « Gods Engineers » arrived in our Solar System about 4 billion years ago, at the dawn of life. They were therefore ready to start the « terraforming » of our planet.

TERRAFORMING

Oceans. Continents.

Mountains and volcanoes. Seas and rivers.

Telluric manipulations.

Physical traces of the Creation.

When the « Gods Engineers » (Great Ancestors or Elohim) arrived in our solar system about 4 billion years ago, it seems that they found our Earth's surface completely solidified. The Popol Vuh gives a very poetic version of this « great moment » :

« This is the account of how all was in suspense, all calm, in silence; all motionless, still, and the expanse of the sky was empty. »

How did the « Gods Engineers » of the Popol-Vuh conduct the terraforming of our planet? How can we explain it was fully covered with water? There again, the Popol-Vuh gives us extraordinary information :

« There was only the calm sea and the vastness of the sky. The surface of the ground had not appeared. Only the Creator, the Maker, Tepeu, Gucumatz, the Forefathers, were in the water surrounded with light. They were hidden under green and blue feathers. By nature they were great sages and great thinkers. They were the Heart of Paradise. ».

What are currently the most likely scientific assumptions concerning that « great moment »?

« A rain of meteorites carrying ice from the outside of the asteroid belt might be at the origin of the presence of water on Earth. On colliding with the Earth these meteorites disintegrated and released water. During the collisions, these rains of water lead to the formation of the oceans about 4 billion years ago. After its formation, our planet had oceans saturated with iron (in green colour) ».

Research engineers studying the possibility of terraforming planet Mars, think it might be possible to use the ice from comets, asteroids, Jovian moons, Saturn, or others. Spaceships should be used to tow the ice up to planet Mars and the ice will colliding with the planet would release the water, and the Sun will make the rest. The « Gods Engineers » perhaps proceeded in the same way to terraform our planet.

So, we can see that the « great moment », described by the scientific assumptions of our time, corresponds to the description of the Popol-Vuh. The rains of meteorites carrying ice have stopped: « There was only the calm sea ». But where and how are the « Gods Engineers » installed after that « great moment », to realize their great purpose, namely the terraforming of our planet? The Popol Vuh explains: « They were in the water surrounded with light. They were hidden under green and blue feathers ».

Some translations of this part of the Popol Vuh give an even more poetic description: « The Genitors (or Forefathers) were in the water surrounded with light, hidden under green and blue feathers »

This amazing description allows us to imagine that about 4 billion years ago the « Gods Engineers » were hidden in « green and blue » saturated iron oceans that completely covered our planet. They were « in the water, surrounded by light », which clearly means that they were in a brilliantly lighted, fixed or mobile underwater facility, maybe the spaceship in which they arrived on our Solar System.

----- END OF EXCERPT -----

Are we alone in the Universe?

*I built my first radio receiver at the age of 9.
It was just a simple crystal radio receiver, known, at the time, as a « Galena Receiver ».
One night, while adjusting the « Galena detector »,
In the middle of cracklings,
I heard in my earphones,
a music coming from
an unknown, distant transmitter.
Then, I built many other radio receivers much more sophisticated, with lamps, transistors,...
When building these radio receivers,
I wanted to listen to the Universe.
The big question in my life has always been :
« Are we alone in the Universe? »*

Quest For An Answer

*Since this first radio experience, this question has been haunting my life.
I've always been trying to find an answer.
Very young I was passionate by UFOs.
For many years,
I actively participated in SETI program an unbelievable research program of Extra-Terrestrial Intelligences.
I was also interested in the crop circles,
these mysterious geometric figures
appearing in wheat fields.
I read sacred books and ancient bibles...
I was looking for a response.
The question was still there in my head,
while I was working for my life.
I have devoted to it my hobbies,
my readings, my movies, my travels...*

*This book is the result of this long quest.
If you also, are asking yourself this question :
« Are we alone in the Universe? »
this essay, you will enable you to understand my quest.*

To pay tribute to ancient Mayas Quichés

*We went several times, Mary and I,
in the extraordinary world of the Quiche Maya, Yucatán, Mexico, Guatemala...*

*There we met
the ancient and new Mayas.
The new Mayas are those of our time,
of everyday life, of hotels and transportation,
all those of today
very busy and speedy country. The ancient Maya are rarer.
They are mostly in archaeological sites,
in the middle of fascinating ruins
of a stunning ancient civilization.*

*During our travels
in this extraordinary world,
I could discuss of the Popol-Vuh with these ancient Maya.
They believe in the Gods Creators of the World,
the Gods from above, and the lower Gods.*

The ancient Maya are cautious when they discuss with a person from another culture.

*They explain the steles,
the temples, the pyramids,
they translate the Mayan glyphs and they say, in a disarming way that their explanations on these old things, after all, are perhaps only modern interpretations.*

I greatly admired their humility and their lack of certainties, an attitude so much in contrast with the behavior of conquerors who invaded their country and of all those who try today to impose their beliefs and their way of life.

This essay on the Popol Vuh and other bibles pays tribute to these ancient Maya Quiche and to their great, ancient old civilization.

About the author

Franck Gordon

During my professional life, I have devoted my hobbies to research on archaeological, religious and scientific enigmas. Intrigued by all that is mysterious and unusual, it is with a mind of engineer that I analyzed unexplained mysteries and impossible objects found on our planet.

Several years ago, while I was preparing my Templar Saga, I discovered a « Templar Mandylion » in Brittany. This historical-religious mystery still remains unsolved to date. Is it the « Baphomet » venerated by the Templars and which led them to the stake? I tried to explain this mystery in my book « Le Code Templier » and during a lecture made in the chapel of Sainte-Marie du Menez-Hom, near the site of my discovery.

For many years now I have been presenting my ideas during lectures on the subjects of my research: Worldwide Genealogy and Huge Databases, Camera Obscura and the Shroud of Turin, Templar Mandylion and Baphomet, Popol-Vuh and Terraforming of planets, moons, etc... I explained all these topics, and many others, in novels and essays such as the Mormon Case, the Templar Code, the Templar of America, the Templar Mandylion, and the Popol-Vuh. All these works are now available on the web.

I would like to thank my readers for their comments posted on the web, or received by e-mail or by letter. Come on Cirac website in the Book Club I created with the help of writers, journalists, publishers and booksellers. You'll find authors, books, eBooks, lectures, articles, and also a lot of ideas.
